

WOMAN SUSPECT IS RECAPTURED

Clara Smith, Who Disappeared
While Under Bonds,
Taken at Stockton.

IS ACCUSED OF ROBBERIES MEMBER OF A "THEATRICAL" TROUPE WHEN ARRESTED.

Clara Smith, the alleged woman robber, who disappeared from Salt Lake a short time ago after her release from the county jail on bail, was captured in Stockton, Utah, about noon yesterday by Sheriff A. O. Evans of Tooele county, who brought her to Salt Lake and returned her to the custody of Sheriff Emery.

The woman is wanted here to answer to two charges of robbery. She has twice attempted to elude the authorities after securing her release from custody on bail.

When she last disappeared she joined a traveling troupe of negro actors. She appeared upon the bills as an ebony nightingale, but also made herself useful after the performance by cooking for the players.

The band of performers went from town to town in Utah, meeting with varying success until they reached Tooele on Saturday. They were to have appeared in that town on Saturday night, but when the hall they had engaged was opened such a slender crowd was present that the players decided the game was not worth the powder and moved on to Stockton.

But before they had shaken the dust of Tooele from their feet some one recognized Clara Smith as a fugitive from justice. Sheriff Evans was informed. He communicated with the authorities here, and learning that the woman had "jumped her bail," followed her to Stockton, where he took her into custody.

That ended Clara's career behind the foot lights, for a time at least.

Accused of Robbery.
The woman is alleged to have robbed Albert Lewis, a Salt Lake drug clerk, and Dr. James Weaver of Loa, Utah. Dr. Weaver is 75 years old and is a county physician of Wayne county. While in Salt Lake last winter, Dr. Weaver was walking on Second South street, near State, with his little son, when the Smith woman, from an alley and, it is alleged, robbed him of $15 before the aged physician could offer any resistance.

After the preliminary examination, which resulted in the holding of the woman for trial in the district court, she was released under $750 bonds, furnished by a Commercial street saloonkeeper and several other acquaintances of the accused woman. She at once went into hiding.

It was then discovered, it is alleged, that the woman had been released upon a "straw bond."

The woman was at last found in a Commercial street resort, in which she had been given a place of concealment.

Is Finally Located.

A little later she was released under $1,000 bonds, furnished by Charles McSwine, a waiter at the Cullen hotel. Then, for the second time, she dropped out of sight. McSwine aided the authorities in their search for the woman, as he is a property owner, and her failure to appear in court for trial would mean the loss to him of $1,000.

Deputy Sheriff Emery, when he arrived in Salt Lake with the prisoner, said that the Smith woman admitted to him that she knew her first husbandmen were not property owners and that nothing could have been collected from them because of her disappearance. She also knew that her departure from the city might have cost McSwine $1,000.

Dr. David Russell of South Africa addresses Congregation.

The Rev. David Russell, a noted missionary who has long labored in South Africa, last evening delivered a powerful sermon in the First Methodist Episcopal church. His text was Rev. vi. 2, "Behold I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice and open the door I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me."

Dr. Russell is one of the most forceful speakers who has been heard in Salt Lake. His discourse last evening adhered closely to the text, which he elucidated in a remarkably comprehensive manner.

Next Wednesday Dr. Russell will deliver an illustrated lecture in the Congregational church, at which he will deliver a discourse on "The Commercial Club" last evening, but he surrendered his time to Dr. Russell. Next Sunday Dr. Russell expects to speak on a topic of current interest in Salt Lake.

The new choir, with thirty voices, was heard to its best advantage for the first time yesterday. The choir is under the direction of Mrs. William A. Wetzel.

WORKMAN STRUCK DOWN

Hans Sorenson Badly Injured in Altercation With William Crawford at Garfield.

After striking Hans Christina Sorenson upon the head with a piece of metal and inflicting injuries that were reported to be fatal, William Crawford, an employee of the Utah Copper company at Garfield, disappeared yesterday afternoon and has not yet been found.

Sorenson, who is 39 years old, and Crawford, who is 22 years old, were employed as boiler washers in the Utah Copper company's power house. About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the two young men quarreled. Other workmen heard their excited voices, but were not able to learn the cause of the quarrel. Sorenson's quarrel with Crawford was a heavy piece of metal and struck Sorenson upon the head, knocking him down.

When the other workmen reached Sorenson he was still unconscious. Believing that he would die of his injury, Watchman Phillips of the Utah Copper company telephoned to the sheriff's office in Salt Lake asking that steps be taken to apprehend Crawford.

Sorenson remained in an unconscious condition for three hours. It is expected that he will recover.

Crawford hailed from Georgia. It is alleged that he was a violent temper and has been in trouble before.

NO TRACE OF THUGS.

TAKE DEEP INTEREST IN HERALD CONTEST

Number of Yards Have Been Entered in Competition for the Prizes—City Divided Into Districts—Conditions Are Inviting.

That a lively interest is being taken in The Herald yard contest is shown by the large number of entries already received at this office. The conditions were announced only a week ago, but every day has brought entries from those ambitious to secure one of The Herald's cash prizes.

It is said by those who know all about lawns and gardens and flower beds that the present rain will be of benefit, inasmuch as it will soften the soil and leave it prepared for cultivation. It is true that the rain is chilly and that freezing temperatures are not improbable, but it is believed that no harm will be done.

The progress made in getting the yards in shape for successful competition is as early in the season as possible. Those who begin now will have the advantage of an early start. They will not have to hurry about the work and will have plenty of time to study their plans and revise them if such a course seems best. The one who does not begin work until later usually finds himself pressed for time at the hour when there is no time to spare.

The progress made on Arbor day in the way of cleaning up the accumulations of winter was gratifying, indeed. Generally speaking, the city is in a clean condition, although there is still a large number of yards that require attention. This is especially true of back yards. A little time devoted each day with rake and spade will soon work a wonderful change.

The prizes in the contest are in addition to the cash prizes for the nearest back yard and the most attractive front yard, a handsome clock is offered for the prettiest flower plot in the front yard.

The city has been divided into districts. Each district will be separate and distinct from any other, and each will have its series of prizes. The division of the city runs thus:

District No. 1—East of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 2—Southeast—East of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 3—Southwest—West of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 4—Northwest—West of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 5—East of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 6—West of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 11—East of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 12—West of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 13—East of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 14—West of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 15—East of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 16—West of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 17—East of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 18—West of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 19—East of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 20—West of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 21—East of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 22—West of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 23—East of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 24—West of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 25—East of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 26—West of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 27—East of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 28—West of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 29—East of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 30—West of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 31—East of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 32—West of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 33—East of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 34—West of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 35—East of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 36—West of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 37—East of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 38—West of Main and south of Second South.

District No. 39—East of Main and north of Second South.

District No. 40—West of Main and north of Second South.

Last year the entire west side constituted one district, but the board of awards found so many premises entitled to prizes that this year it has been decided to double the number of premiums to be awarded to the west side.

The prizes in each district are: Front yard—First prize, $15. Second prize, $5. Third prize, $3. Fourth prize, $2.50. Back yard—First prize, $10. Second prize, $5. Third prize, $3. Fourth prize, $2.50. Prettiest flower plot, each district, handsome clock.

The only condition imposed is that the premises entered shall be those in connection with a home of six rooms or fewer. In making this restriction the aim is to confine the competition to the householders who do the work themselves, and bars the large residences where usually a caretaker is employed whose sole duty it is to look after the lawns and the shrubbery.

The awards will be made by a committee of prominent citizens, who will, at a date later to be determined upon, make a tour of each district and personally inspect every entry. It is likely that there will be a board for each district, in order that there may be ample time to devote to each place and that the committee will not be pressed for time, as would be the case if only one board were selected for the entire city.

One does not have to be a subscriber of The Herald to be eligible as a competitor. The Herald gives the money and the prizes with the sole object in view of stimulating interest in a more beautiful Salt Lake. It has been the experience in the past that the contests have been of material benefit to the city, and a greater spirit of pride on the part of every household in the adornment of his property.

It is necessary that entries be written in ink, and that the names be printed. This is done in order to prevent mistakes in deciphering handwriting. No entries will be received by telephone.

SALT LAKE PEOPLE HAVE PRIVILEGE OF MARKING THEIR POSTAGE STAMPS

If there is anyone in Salt Lake who is missing postage stamps and doesn't know where to find them, it is his privilege to place his personal mark of identification on them—a mark of identification that will not rub out.

Thus far there have not been reported to the postoffice any thefts of postage stamps in this city of a proportion so great as to warrant the aid of the latest wrinkle in safeguarding the patrons of the postoffice department. The right is theirs, however, whenever the purchases of stamps desire to exercise it.

In Chicago, for many years, there had been complaints about thefts of stamps from firms using thousands of dollars' worth monthly, weekly or daily. The big mail order houses were sometimes at the mercy of the thieves. Sorenson's learned that cases were not infrequent where stamps had been offered for sale, but there was immense difficulty in the way of bringing the thieves to book.

The result was that the postoffice department has devised a system whereby postage stamps may be identified by the marks of their purchasers. The trick is done by means of perforation, and is, of course, subject to approval of the department.

Yesterday morning questioning persons who were in the vicinity of First South and Third West streets at the time of the shooting.

"I am convinced that all the men who had anything to do with the affair are in the vicinity of the shooting," said Chief Pitt. "Their friends are helping them. This indicates that the shooting was due to domestic quarrels of some sort. The man who was injured would certainly complain if he did not have good reasons to keep his mouth shut. Had his condition been dangerous he could not have got away from the scene of the shooting so soon."

The woman who was passing the corner of First South and Third West streets and saw the two men run away repeated her story to the police yesterday. She said that there was blood upon the face of one of the men. He held his hand to his face as though covering a wound and shouted: "They've got me now."

His words indicated that he had been attacked by more than one man. The woman said that it was possible the blood upon the man's face may have come from a wound upon his hand, which was held to his chest.

PLAN TO FIGHT DISEASE
Druggists Will Battle Stomach Troubles in Salt Lake City.

The increase of stomach troubles in Salt Lake City has led F. C. Schramm to take effective measures to combat the disease. He has the local agency for Mi-o-na stomach tablets, and in order to induce people suffering with weak stomach or indigestion to use the remedy, offers to supply it with the understanding that money will be refunded in every case where it does not cure.

Mi-o-na is not a mere digestive, but an absolute strengthener and builder-up of the whole digestive tract. If you suffer with headaches, dizziness, palpitation, bad taste in the mouth, nervousness, coated tongue, distress after eating, use Mi-o-na and see how quickly these symptoms of a weak stomach will disappear.

Remember that F. C. Schramm gives a guarantee to refund the money unless it cures.

SALON KEEPERS ON THEIR GUARD

Effect of Last Week's Raid
Made Itself Distinctly Felt Sunday.

CHIEF STATES HIS POSITION SAYS ADDITIONAL ARRESTS MAY BE MADE TODAY.

There was anxiety yesterday among the Salt Lake saloonkeepers who are alleged to have fallen into the practice of keeping their places open on Sundays. Careful watch was kept for rakish-looking individuals with ink fingers, who might have been Chief of Police Pitt's clerk in disguise. Men who claimed to be thirsty were eyed askance and more than one natural mistake was mistaken for an artificial one, bought in a store and glued to the smooth lip of young Mr. Peterson, who a week ago kicked up such an awful rumpus among those whom he charged with having labored to prevent Salt Lake from being utterly dry upon the Sabbath.

It was reported that Chief Pitt, before sending his agents out yesterday morning to gather evidence against saloonkeepers suspected of violating the Sunday closing ordinance sent warnings to the proprietors that there would be trouble for them if they did not close up as tight as a sardine can.

Saturday Night Lid.

A number of saloonkeepers stated yesterday that soon after midnight they received messages over the telephone from police headquarters, ordering them to clear their places of the patrons who lingered there and lock their doors.

Chief Pitt said last night that the anxiety concerning the possibility of his sending his agents during the night to close up the saloons immediately after midnight on Sunday mornings is needless.

Chief Pitt's Statement.
"What I want," said Chief Pitt, "is the closing of the saloons during the day. It is not the closing of the saloons at night. I want them to remain closed until the lawful hour of opening on Monday morning. I am willing to give the saloonkeepers plenty of time in which to clear their places and lock up. If they take until 1 or 2 o'clock on Sunday morning I will have no kind of a make. That is, if they will then close up tight throughout the remaining hours of the Sabbath. I have no intention of sending my agents among the saloons just as the midnight hour strikes."

"It is true that I have had men going among the saloons during the day. It is possible that more arrests may be made. That will depend upon the result of my examination of the evidence they have obtained."

Strangers Are Watched.

All sorts of rumors were in circulation yesterday concerning the activities of Chief Pitt. It was said that the chief had two "spotters" out among the saloons and all strangers who loitered in the vicinity of downtown resorts were eyed suspiciously.

The case of Mike Albino, proprietor of the Orpheum saloon, at 125 South State street, who is charged with having violated the Sunday closing law on Sunday April 26, will be called in the police court this morning.

The other ten cases, resulting from the activities of Chief Pitt, will be called in the police court this morning.

The saloon men and restaurant keepers who have been accused by Chief Pitt, clerk declare that the cases will be fought to a finish.

A social affair of more than ordinary interest was the reception given Saturday at the home of Mrs. Bathsheba W. Smith, the president of the National Woman's Relief society, at the home, 122 North West Temple.

The reception was marked with the presence during the afternoon of between 200 and 400 callers.
